CRAFTED FOR THE INDIVIDUAL

Throughout his life, the designer, architect and artist Charles Rennie Mackintosh was influenced by a wealth of artistic forms. His genius was in his ability to cleverly unite these separate elements to create his own unique and modern style.

The Mackintosh philosophy now lives on through this inspired collection of kitchens, all of which offer a seamless combination of beauty, durability and effortless functionality.

True to their namesake, Mackintosh Kitchens are designed with a visionary flair and a meticulous attention to detail. Combining true British craftsmanship with contemporary design features, it's a range that not only looks stunning, but also meets the demands of modern-day life.

Individuality was important to Charles Rennie Mackintosh. In fact, few designers can claim such a unique and instantly recognisable style. Because we're firm believers in individuality too, every Mackintosh Kitchen comes with an inspirational choice of colours, textures, design details and finishing touches.

INSPIRED BRITISH DESIGN

At Mackintosh we're very proud of our British heritage, not to mention our reputation for designing and manufacturing an outstanding range of durable, high-quality kitchens. All of which are made using the latest manufacturing techniques at our modern, purpose-built factory in Yorkshire.

But being British isn't just about geography. It's about having a forward-thinking attitude and a natural flair for ingenuity. Good British design has always set the trends and pushed the boundaries, which is something we strive to do with every kitchen we create.

Wherever we can, we use British components in our Mackintosh Kitchens. But to help ensure we maintain the highest possible standards, we also source materials from around the world. These are then combined and manufactured in the UK to produce a superior quality kitchen, backed by unrivalled customer service.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BUY A KITCHEN

"Before you talk to a designer, think about how you and your family will use the space and give yourself enough time to make the right decisions. Start by measuring the dimensions of the room and have a go at roughly planning out what would work best for you."

George Clarke
Architect, Writer, Lecturer and TV Presenter.

STEP 1 IT'S ALL IN THE PLANNING

Getting a kitchen that's perfect for you and your family's needs takes time and plenty of planning, so don't try to rush this stage. Before you talk to any experts give yourself time to sit down and think about how you would like to use the space.

Ask yourself: what would be my ideal layout? Who's going to use it? How much storage do I need? What appliances do I want? What colours and textures do I like? Do I want an island unit and can the space take it?

Measure the dimensions, including where the doors, windows and services are located and make a list of exactly what you want and need.

The modern-day British kitchen is by far the busiest and most regularly used room in the home. With so many functions performed in it every day, proper planning and great design is essential.

The kind of space you have available, and how your family move around it will play a huge part in the overall design of your kitchen. You want it to look beautiful, but also work beautifully, to complement your way of living.

So take your time to browse the full range of Mackintosh Kitchens in this brochure, then follow these five simple steps to help you make the right choices.

STEP 2 ADD SOME EXPERTISE

Once you have the measurements and a rough outline of what you want, it's time to visit your local Mackintosh retailer to chat through your ideas with a designer.

They'll have the experience and design expertise to advise you on what will work and what won't, and will be able to turn your initial thoughts into something that not only reflects your personality, but supports and enhances your individual lifestyle.

STEP 3 DECIDE ON THE DOORS

Nothing defines a kitchen more than the doors. Depending on the design, you can create something elegant, rustic, eye-catching, minimalist or luxurious.

A Mackintosh Kitchen has dozens of traditional, shaker and modern styles available, in a range of gloss, wood effect, timber and painted finishes. All of which can be customised with an extensive range of handles. Or you can choose to go handle-less if you want a truly modern look.

STEP 4 LET'S TALK STORAGE

You should have already thought carefully about your storage. Not just what you need now, but also in the future.

By using your available space efficiently, it's surprising just how much extra storage you can create. Mackintosh units are available with all kinds of ingenious storage solutions such as the designer 'LeMans' corner unit, pull-out larders and internal drawers. You'll find the full range of functional accessories, including lighting and shelving, from page 152.

STEP 5 WORK OUT YOUR WORKTOPS

Choosing a worktop is an important part of the design process and can change the whole look and feel of your kitchen. So it has to be right.

That's why Mackintosh offer a huge range of durable laminate worktops from Duropal, one of the UK's leading suppliers. They're available in a wide choice of colours and styles, and in 40mm & 22mm thicknesses. There's also a unique range of curved worktops, designed specifically to suit the collection of curved base units.

GREAT BRITISH CRAFTSMANSHIP

The cabinet forms the very foundation of your kitchen, so it's important to choose one that's built to withstand the daily rigours and demands of modern-day living.

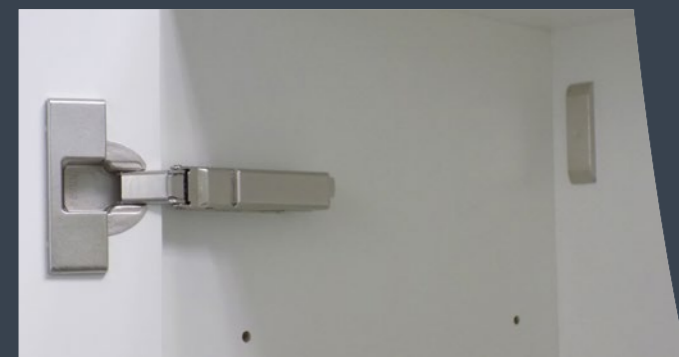

Mackintosh kitchen cabinets are made by combining tried and tested traditional methods, such as glue and dowel construction, with the latest and most innovative manufacturing techniques.

All our kitchens are made to order and supplied completely rigid*, with doors, drawers and wirework pre-fitted. The result is a superior-quality cabinet that's ready to be installed and has no unsightly fixings or redundant drill holes.

The full list of features and benefits of the Mackintosh cabinet can be found on page 148. However, when choosing your kitchen, you should also give careful consideration to three other important areas: the drawers, hinges and edging.

SOFT-CLOSE HINGES

To match the well-crafted quality of the drawers, Mackintosh units are supplied with Grass 'Tiamos' hinges. These have a modern square design with no visible fixings, and an integral soft-close action that's both reliable and consistent, even from 30 degrees, with no bounce-back. The Tiamos hinge is also child-safe to ensure fingers can't be trapped in the linkages.

PROTECTIVE EDGING

The kitchen is an environment of constantly changing temperature and humidity. To protect your kitchen, Mackintosh units are supplied with the finest, durable 1.3mm PVC edging. Not only does this provide a better finish, more importantly it provides better protection against moisture. Please see page 148 for more important features and benefits.

YOUR CHOICE OF DRAWER BOX

A quality kitchen deserves a superior drawer box. Mackintosh kitchens feature drawers from Grass, one of the world's leading suppliers of quality drawer systems. There are three types to choose from: Scala, Nova Pro and luxury solid oak.

SCALA

Supplied as standard, Scala drawers feature full-extension drawer runners with a smooth action and a 40kg load-bearing capacity. All drawers are soft close, with a progressive damping action providing a fluid, silent close every time.

To help with cleaning, the drawers and fronts are easy to remove or replace and no tools are required. Pan drawers are supplied with either a square rail or with smoked glass sides, at no extra cost.

Scala Pan Drawers with Rails

Scala Pan Drawers with Smoked Glass Sides

NOVA PRO

Nova Pro drawers are available as a free alternative to Scala drawers and share the same great features and benefits. They're supplied in an aluminium finish, with curved twin-walled metal sides. Pan drawers are available with either a rail or glass sides, at no extra cost.

Nova Pro Pan Drawers with Rails

Nova Pro Pan Drawers with Crystal Sides

SOLID OAK

For a little added luxury, you can upgrade to solid oak drawers with dovetail joints. These are a perfect accompaniment to Mackintosh painted kitchens and are available with a range of matching oak drawer accessories.

Oak Pan Drawers

Please see page 150 for more important features and benefits.

*Large units, such as 1000mm larder units and L shape corner base units are supplied ready-to-assemble.

IDEAS TO INSPIRE

Here's a few thoughts and design ideas to help you enhance your Mackintosh Modern kitchen and make it your own.

BRIGHT ON WHITE

All-white kitchens look stunning, which is why it remains such a sort-after look. You can stop the style looking too cold and clinical by adding colourful design details such as tiles, cookware, even a bowl of fruit. Set against a bright white backdrop, these colourful accents will really jump out.

LIGHTBULB MOMENT

Here's a bright idea, why not combine vintage lighting with your modern kitchen scheme? Oversized Edison-style lightbulbs are very on-trend at the moment. They can create a fantastic feature, particularly in modern style kitchens, and the filaments give off a wonderfully warm, golden glow.

MODERN METALLICS

With stainless steel kitchen appliances as popular as ever, there's a wealth of metallic accessories out there to complement and accentuate the look. Silver and chrome remain a firm favourite but more recently, alternatives such as gold, bronze and copper have gained in popularity.

A TIMELESS LOOK

The perennial Shaker kitchen offers a simple, understated style. Whilst the classic design creates a feeling of heritage, it's neutral enough to let you make your own mark on your space.

Its founders, The Shakers of New England, believed everything in a house should have a function and that decoration was unnecessary. Instead, the emphasis was on practicality and durability. Which is something you can be certain of with a Mackintosh Shaker kitchen.

"The simplicity of a Shaker-style kitchen means it can feel quintessentially country-like, rustic farmhouse or urban twist – whatever your taste, it can work in your home."

DISCOVER THE DARK SIDE

Stainless steel no longer just comes in silver. Right now, there's a real buzz around black stainless steel appliances. Coated with a darker hue, they have the same appeal and satin-smooth finish of traditional stainless, but with an understated, contemporary character all of their own.

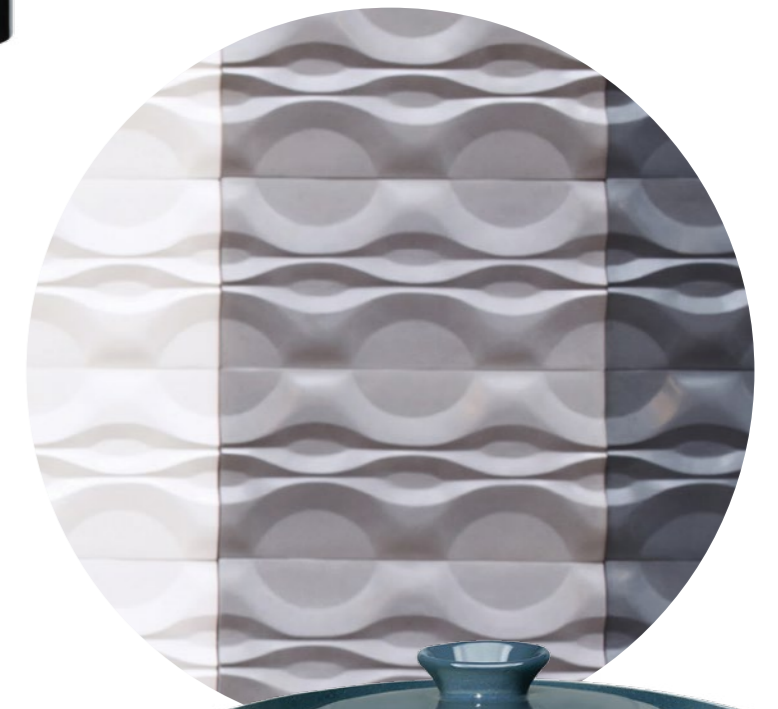

IDEAS TO INSPIRE

Here's a few thoughts and design ideas to help you enhance your Mackintosh Shaker kitchen and make it your own.

THINK BIGGER

The trend is definitely leaning towards the larger tile. Gone are the days when every tile came in a standard 12in x 12in format. You can now make a bigger statement with large format tiles up to the size of a kitchen table, and there's never been more materials and finishes to choose from.

BOLD STORAGE

The kitchen is complete and the last thing you want to do is clutter the counters. Give essentials a bold lift with the latest storage solutions. Think about putting shelves up to store them on if you want to make a great design feature.

WHERE TO BUY: 3 x Storage Pots in Blue Black and White, Amara, from £15 - £400. Black Utensil Storage, Black By Design, £32.00. Blue Pot, Amara, £79.90. Frying Pan, Houseology, £67.00. CONTEMPORARY COUNTRY

Having a country-style kitchen doesn't have to mean old fashioned or twee. By pairing soft pastels like duck egg blue, mint green or lemon yellow with darker, richer woods like mahogany or walnut, you can add a contemporary contrast while maintaining that characterful, traditional charm.

SOFT OPTIONS

Who says the kitchen has to be all hard edges and solid surfaces? By introducing a selection of soft furnishings, you can add warmth and a subtle country flavour to the design. Linking your kitchen space and living space creates a harmonious and relaxing area to sit, eat and socialise in.

IDEAS TO INSPIRE

Here's a few thoughts and design ideas to help you enhance your Mackintosh Traditional kitchen and make it your own.

MARVELLOUS MARBLE

This luxurious and naturally beautiful stone has been highly prized for millennia and there's no sign of its popularity waning. It looks fabulous on worktops, walls, floors or splashbacks, and if budget is an issue, there are plenty of faux marble options out there that look equally stunning.

HANDLE OPTIONS

We offer an extensive range of distinctive handle styles to let you personalise your Mackintosh Kitchen and make it your own.

Please note, not all handle suites are suitable for each kitchen. Most are supplied at no extra charge, however, a small number do carry a surcharge and your Mackintosh retailer will be happy to advise you on suitability and costs. A handle suite may comprise up to three handles which are fitted to drawers, doors and spice boxes where applicable.

MODERN HANDLES

* Handle suite carries a surcharge.
  Handles fitted horizontally.
 † Handles can be fitted either vertical or horizontal.

TRADITIONAL HANDLES

HANDLE-LESS KITCHENS

If you're looking for a minimalist kitchen, perhaps a kitchen that doesn't feature handles that can detract from clean lines and a sleek design, then Mackintosh has three ways to achieve this – Inset, Touch and Integral.

MACKINTOSH INSET KITCHENS

The principle of Mackintosh Inset Kitchens is that doors and drawers include a cup, fitted to the reverse, allowing them to be opened without the need of a protruding handle. This ensures a minimalist approach whilst maintaining soft close actions on doors and drawers.

To allow access to pan drawers, larder units and appliance housings, Inset kitchens are designed using horizontal and vertical extrusions, in a brushed steel finish. These not only provide a functional purpose but also work well with the range of doors available.

Inset can be used on a total of 56 doors, including all Sheer, Chic, Fresco, Metrica (all colours, except Gloss Black) and Linear.

MACKINTOSH TOUCH KITCHENS

Mackintosh Kitchens can be designed without handles using our Touch system. Doors and drawers are opened simply by touch, allowing you to create a minimalist, handle-free design.

Certain units, such as pull-out larders, appliance doors and magic corner units require a handle. A specifically designed handle suite (suite 653) is available to allow these units to be opened whilst still ensuring a minimalist design. Alternatively, a face-fixed handle could be used and we recommend the following handle suites - Suites 605, 610 and 707.

MACKINTOSH INTEGRAL KITCHENS

Integral kitchens are the third way to design a Mackintosh Kitchen without a handle. This style features an integrated J-Pull style handle grip (called J-Pull due to its shape).

The integrated grip of Integral has been specifically developed to be deeper than other versions, providing more grip and ensuring that opening dishwasher and larder doors is easier.

Integral kitchens are available in six gloss finishes (White, Ivory, Grey, Light Grey, Cashmere and Anthracite) as well as 15 matt painted colours.

ENHANCING THE DESIGN

Every Mackintosh Kitchen comes with a variety of optional design features and innovative storage solutions. These give you the flexibility to customise your chosen kitchen style and further enhance the look and functionality of the space.

WALK-IN CORNER LARDER STORAGE

The corners of your kitchen is often where valuable storage space is lost, or difficult to access. Our expertly designed walk-in corner larder unit solves this problem beautifully. With an abundance of accessible storage, including a full-height wine rack, it's the perfect solution when designing around a corner.

Alternatively, you can opt for a standard corner larder unit which includes four Kesseböhmer LeMans storage systems, also providing easy access in a hard-to-reach area of the kitchen.

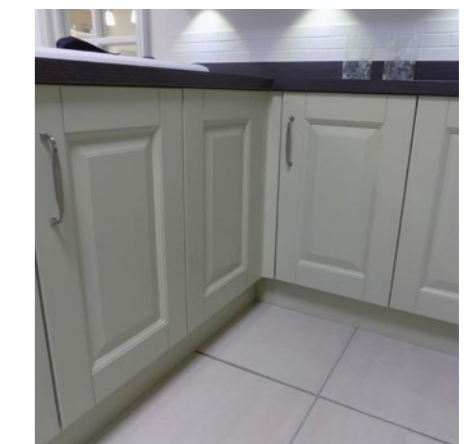

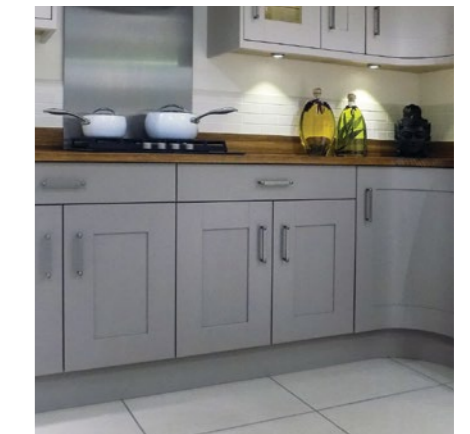

USING UNITS DIFFERENTLY

A standard kitchen unit doesn't have to be used in a standard way, you can create your own, unique design. Bridging units for example, typically used around a sink or a hob, can be combined with open plan shelving to create a striking, yet functional design feature.

DRAWER OPTIONS

Traditionally, a pan drawer unit consists of a large, shallow top drawer, with two deeper bottom drawers. An alternative option with a Mackintosh Kitchen is to use a pan drawer with two narrower top drawers. Or, when using a double base unit, you can opt for a larger drawer rather than two separate drawers as shown.

L-SHAPED CORNER UNITS

When designing around a corner, there are many ways to ensure you have easy access to hard-to-reach storage space. One such solution is an L-shape corner unit. Available in multiple sizes, it can provide spacious, everyday storage.

GLAZED UNIT

Why not consider making a feature of your wall units with our stylish glazed doors? You can choose from a range of aluminium frames and glazing designs to complement both traditional and more contemporary kitchens.

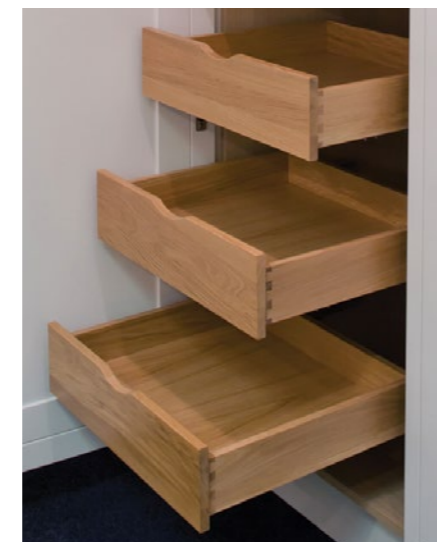

CHUNKY PILASTER

Adding decorative features like pilasters can work beautifully with a Mackintosh Kitchen, particularly with the more traditional styles. There are a variety of designs to choose from, allowing you complete control over the look, feel and personality of your kitchen.

LIFT UP WALL UNITS

An alternative to the standard side-opening wall unit is our innovative lift-up wall unit. It's ideal when you need access for longer, whilst cooking perhaps, as it allows the unit to remain open without the risk of hitting your head on the open door. The flap mechanism also features a soft close system for silent, effortless closing.

LARDER UNITS WITH OAK DRAWERS

To complement your Mackintosh Kitchen, we have a great range of larder and pantry unit options, complete with beautifully crafted oak drawers. They're available in a variety heights and styles.

WORKING MANTEL

Usually a feature of traditional kitchen designs, mantels make practical and attractive additions to your space and are available in a variety of veneered and painted finishes.

CURVED CORNER UNIT

A stylish alternative to the more standard L shape corner base unit, the curved version, with its sweeping lines, can suit both modern or traditional-style kitchens. They partner perfectly with our range of curved laminate worktops and are available in a selection of kitchens:

Metrica (except Black), Integral (all colours), Linear Painted (all colours), Timeless (all colours), Chamfered (all colours), Sculptured (all colours), Manor House Painted Shaker and Painted Timber Shaker (all colours).

*Please note that the curved unit used for In-Line ranges is supplied with two doors.

WICKER BASKETS

More suited to traditional kitchen designs, these wicker basket base units are ideal for larder-style storage.

⊗ TAKE YOUR VISION FURTHER

If your home has a utility room, it's worth considering redesigning this space at the same time as your Mackintosh Kitchen. That way you can ensure a consistent, co-ordinated look.

Housing your appliances inside cabinets creates a clean and uncluttered space, which you can break up by introducing some open shelving for items you need easy access to.

When it comes to storing larger items such as ironing boards, laundry baskets and vacuum cleaners, our tall larder and corner larder units are ideal for maximising your available space.

Whatever options you go for, you can be sure a Mackintosh utility room will be every bit as durable and meticulously designed as our kitchens.

CABINET SPECIFICATION

Your cabinets will form the foundation of your new kitchen. So when you're looking for real durability, only a truly quality build will do. The hallmark of that quality, is a glue and dowel construction, giving you a cabinet that's built to last and leaving you no unsightly visible screws, fixings and drill holes.

As the kitchen can be an environment that has a lot of moisture in the air, it's also really important to make sure that any exposed edges are protected from potential water damage too.

This range gives you the option to add even more quality with features like adjustable shelving, soft-closing hinges and anti-tip fittings.
